Heather D. Sanders's blurbs

About Me:

This is my second year at Wester Middle School, but my ninth year teaching 8th grade! There is another Mrs. Heather Sanders here at Wester, so it's important that you know that my middle initial is "D", but if you're slightly more daring, you may call me, "Oh, Captain! My Captain!" (movie reference alert!)

I was born in Fort Worth, and with the exception of my college years and a few post-marriage years, have lived here my whole life. I love, love, love Fort Worth! My family and I live in Mansfield.

When I find some free time, I like to read (which shouldn't surprise you), shop, watch (and obsess over) the TV show "Lost", sing karaoke, listen to 80's music (THE single most awesome musical genre ever), watch movies, work out (yoga, preferably) and play with my kids.

Who I'd Like to Meet:

Mark Twain, William Shakespeare, Jennifer Aniston, the entire cast of "Lost", Sarah Jessica Parker, Billy Collins

Mrs. Heather D. Sanders's interests

General:	Reading, teaching, "Lost", hanging out with my family, yoga, blogging, podcasting, attempting to stay organized, learning new techie tricks
Music:	All types – really! My ipod is crammed tons of different genres – rock, pop, 80's, metal, alternative, country, showtunes
Movies:	LOVE them – I particularly love 80's movies and enjoy quoting them at appropriate moments in any conversation
Television:	"LOST", of course. Grey's Anatomy rocks! I'm also embarrassingly fond of "The Hills", "The Real World", and "My Super Sweet Sixteen." I am destined to become a contestant on "The Singing Bee" or "Don't Forget the Lyrics"
Books:	I LOVE all of the Harry Potter books, Jodi Picoult, Ray Bradbury, the Georgia Nicolson diaries, Dickens, Poe, Shakespeare... To Kill a Mockingbird is my all-time favorite
